introducing north lanarkshire's...

Welcome to our new look community arts programme. Arts and You.

After years of our Community Arts programme being called Arts in Action, we would like to get more up-close and personal with you. Arts and You was born, growing the relationship between community arts and YOU.

It's about creativity, it's about reflection; it's about arts and you!

Ever thought about trying to learn how to play guitar, how to take great photographs, write stories or learn ceramics? Come along and try something new! Discover the new you and discover your talent!

We're kicking off 2017 with a fresh, new branding and image but still firmly holding on to the key aspects of our arts programme in the community, and that's what it's all about - the ARTS and YOU. Our classes will still offer you local, value for money access to a wide range of quality arts activities, workshops and events that we know you already enjoy. It's YOUR local arts programme and we want to share what we offer as widely as possible across the North Lanarkshire community.

COMMUNITY ARTS CLASSES, WORKSHOPS AND EVENTS

From Monday 9 January 2017, CultureNL's Community Arts Team is offering a new programme of affordable, weekly, arts classes that will appeal to children, young people and adults of all abilities. The classes run weekly until Saturday 1 April then break for 2 weeks over the Easter holidays. All classes start back week beginning Tuesday 18 April and run until Saturday 1 July 2017*. *Children's Theatre and Youth Theatre classes stop after their production on 4 June 2017.

Weekly classes are OFF on the following dates:

Schools Mid Term and In-service Days: All children's classes off 13, 14, 15 February.

Easter Holidays: All classes off 3- 17 April inclusive.

School and Public Holiday: All classes off Monday 1 May.

Scottish Local Election and In-service Day: All children's classes off Thursday 4 May.

School and Public Holidays: All classes off Friday 26 May and Monday 29 May.

Classes that are operating with low attendance numbers after the initial three-week period will be terminated. Alternative options will be offered where possible, but this cannot be guaranteed.

Please note that the Community Arts Team cannot be held responsible for changes of venue. Should a change of venue occur, we will endeavour to inform all participants in advance.

We will update our arts programme and give you news and information throughout the year on our website, Twitter and Facebook pages, please check us out. You can also find our Easter Holiday programme of arts and cultural event for children and families here or simply pick up a programme in your local library or community venue.

WHAT COULD YOU DO?

VISUAL ARTS & CRAFTS

A wide range of weekly classes are held in community centres and facilities across North Lanarkshire and offer drawing and painting, printing and arts and crafts. Our ceramics studio, Pather Artworks, is located in a bright art studio within Pather Community Centre, Wishaw, and offers a range of ceramic based classes.

All our classes are skills based, for adults and children of all abilities, and are run in relaxed and informal settings. For further information on visual arts classes call 01236 632828.

Anne Louise Kieran, Development Officer - Visual Arts

"Welcome to the Visual Arts programme for Jan-July 2017. We have a great selection of classes throughout many venues in the area, so if you're into the arts, you are bound to find something for you to try out art-wise."

"It's great to see the satisfaction on people's faces when they achieve something they didn't know they were capable of."

'All Encompassing'

Alan Loach / Fran Alexander

Alan and Fran's diverse artistic styles support their belief that art encompasses a host of disciplines and is not restricted to a certain genre of work. By ongoing stimulation and life influences, they are open to the production of sensitive, exciting artwork. Expect an array of varied subject matters and media at this exhibition.

1 May - 24 July

Ceramic Class Work from CultureNL

An impressive collection of ceramic work designed and produced by participants that attend Pather Artworks Studio, Wishaw, run by CultureNL. Pather Artworks offer children, young people and adults of all abilities the opportunity to work creatively with clay. Ceramics classes and workshop information can be found at www.culturenl.co.uk/arts

Bellshill Cultural Centre

1 February - 19 April

Military Lives, Then and Now

'North Lanarkshire's War' presents "Military Lives, Then and Now", a photography project working with current service personnel and veterans. Photographer Allan Bovill documented all of the participants in the style and costume of the 1910s and then again in a contemporary style. This unique perspective of the lives of the military community now and then is part of the wider North Lanarkshire's War project, commemorating the 100 year anniversary of the First World War.

3 May - 26 July

CultureNL Creative Writing Class Work
High Days and Holidays

May has traditionally been the month that heralds the start of the holiday season. The month itself, for many people, offers workers and families the opportunity to enjoy two long weekends of public holidays that encourage days out, short breaks or just simply getting out and about more locally. Holidays are to be anticipated, treasured and most of all enjoyed. CultureNL's Creative Writing Groups have responded to the 'High Days and Holidays' theme with the work on display in this exhibition.

Airdrie Town Hall

9 January - 24 April

The Pursuit of Beauty

Is beauty truly in the eye of the beholder...? For centuries, men and women across the globe have followed some weird and wonderful fads and fashions in the name of beautification. This eclectic display features a range of old advertisements as well as fascinating artefacts from the Airdrie Museum collection.

15 May - 17 July

LOVE

Ashleigh Kitchen

Having graduated from Glasgow School of Art in 2016, Ashleigh Kitchen's work finds influence from the worlds of fashion and material culture. Today, Ashleigh says, "The Shop is increasingly curated like a gallery". She asks, "What happens when biological drives meet with external stimulation? The push and pull of empty and full. Shop as gallery and vice versa. Paintings as objects of desire".

Airdrie Community Health Centre

23 January - 20 March

Art and Recovery

The participants in the Art and Recovery Project have used the medium of art to express their views of recovery and hope. This local Art and Recovery Group involves people in recovery from alcohol and drug problems.

Art has a positive impact on the health and wellbeing of those involved, improving confidence and self-esteem and reducing social isolation and stigma.

27 March – 5 JuneAirdrie & Coatbridge Islamic Centre

FACIC, Friends of Airdrie and Coatbridge Islamic Centre, is a new voluntary organisation that took shape in March 2012. This led to a series of events being organised such as the Connecting Communities event that has been taking place around the month of June, with the aim of celebrating how Scottish and Islamic cultures can work, live and learn together with support from North Lanarkshire Partnership.

19 June – 11 SeptemberAirdrie Integrated Addiction Service –
Service User Football Group

A Service User Football Group was formed by Airdrie Integrated Addiction Service to take part in the annual Suicide Prevention Tournament and the invitation was then opened up to the Community Mental Health Team who also brought along patients who were interested in taking part.

At first, the participants, many of whom have a long history of drug and alcohol addiction or chronic mental ill health, struggled physically due to a lack of regular exercise but have now become fitter, healthier and more positive about their future.

Schools Outreach Programme for Exhibitions

Selected exhibitions offer student groups inspiration together with hands-on workshops provided by a professional artist. These kinds of sessions can offer the student a great insight into the artist's work and a range of activities that stimulate and inspire. If you are interested in taking part in workshops related to the forthcoming exhibition programme, please call 01236 632828.
